SULTANIYE thermal springs

Hello everyone!

Best times of the year still continue... Dalyan has become slightly more quiet, and we see more people out wandering through the small villages around as the weather now is perfect for any outdoor activity. Surely, October will be the same.

September was good for seakayak and mountainbiking for active holiday makers, and boat trips, both near Dalyan and in Göcek bay were better than the summer times thanks to the flat sea even in the afternoon!

What's cooking for October? Check out our "10% off" last minute deals on active tours this month:

-  Seakayak week
"Paddle the Lycian Coast"
22-29 October 2011
-  Trekking week
"Walk the Lycian Way"
15-22 October 2011 and
29 Oct. - 05 Nov. 2011
-  Cycling week
"Dalyan based Mountainbiking"
Every week in October 2011

Enjoy the Autumn!

The word Sultaniye comes from the Ottoman "Sultan" and means the place of the Sultans. It's the name of a tiny village on the southern bank of Lake Köycegiz, but in the past it was important for some Ottoman Pashas who used to visit here for its thermal springs, rich in sulphur and other minerals, which are believed to heal many diseases.

The springs must have been used even before the Ottomans, as there are ancient ruins from the Roman era. Today, the healing properties of the water and the mud still exist and to many tourists, it is a main point of attraction.

Our "Köycegiz Market" boat trip can take you there every Monday, just as our famous "BBQ Night Tour" every Saturday, or any day if you're a group of 6 or more.

For active holiday makers, we offer a long, but nice, scenic walk through the woods: "Trekking to Sultaniye" on various, rolling terrain, passing near Kaunos and the ancient city wall. It takes about 5 hours on a 10-km track, which is sometimes rough, but rewarding at the end: a nice pancake lunch by the lake, a relaxing swim at hot springs, a less-crowded mud bath, or a refreshing dive in the lake. The return is by boat on a scenic route.

the TURQUOISE COASTLINE ask it to the Lycian Coast Paddlers!

The coastline from Dalyan to Göcek is a perfect strip to explore turquoise waters of the Mediterranean – and no other way matches a seakayak tour to see it.

Here's what our last guests did in September on our "Paddle the Lycian Coast" tour:

- ✍ Day 1 – arrived in Dalyan.
- ✍ Day 2 – Got safety & kayak training, paddled from Iztuzu Beach to Metin Gol bay, got more training along the way, camped under the stars in the middle of nowhere.
- ✍ Day 3 – Paddled from Metin Gol bay to Şarigerme, went in to that cave to see the "glacier", stayed in hotel in Göcek (too much of that delicious local food).
- ✍ Day 4 – Enjoyed the "minibus safari", then the Rafting on the Dalaman River, stayed in hotel in Göcek (ate at "Kebab hospital" – what is that ???)
- ✍ Day 5 – Missed kayaking, so back in their "private yachts", from Göcek to Tersane Island, camped around the ruins
- ✍ Day 6 – Paddled from Tersane Island to Şarşala bay, swam in turquoise waters as Cleopatra once did, back to hotel in Dalyan.
- ✍ Day 7 – Walked from Dalyan to Ekincik in the morning to earn that delicious bbq lunch, enjoyed the snorkelling tour as they returned by boat, stayed in hotel in Dalyan
- ✍ Day 8 – Left with unforgettable sights and moments.
- ✍ Day 11 – Shared with us the photo below and others
